PREFACE

The Historical Records Survey, a Federal project of the Works Progress Administration, is engaged primarily in the preparation of condensed inventories of state, county, and local public records and of guides to the more important manuscript depositories of the nation. Surveys of the records of churches, business houses, institutions, and labor unions have also been undertaken. Catalogues are in preparation not only of these records but also of the early American portraits of the New England states and the state of New York, and of the early American imprints of all the states.

In a program as varied as the above it was felt that at least one genealogical work might be included, especially since every such work is, when well done, a contribution to biography and history as well as to genealogy itself.

This volume has been published under the auspices of the Ballou Family Association. Acknowledgment is due Colonel Latimer Willis Ballou and Mr. Arnold Seagrave of Woonsocket, Rhode Island and Mr. Hosea Starr Ballou of Brookline, Massachusetts for their assistance and cooperation. Mr. William A. Ballou of Lawrence, Massachusetts, assisted by Miss Myrtle M. Jillson of Waterbury, Connecticut, has, by careful research over a period of years, greatly aided the Survey in the compiling of the genealogical material. Much of the value of this volume is due to the skill and painstaking care of Mr. James Williamson Eddy of the Survey staff in checking and arranging the data submitted. In this work he received able assistance from Mrs. Ethel L. Wood, Mrs. Annis Kinsman Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Dorothy E. Austin, and Mr. Amedeo Tombion of the Historical Records Survey. Finally, we are indebted to Mr. Kelsey Ballou Sweatt for his conscientious and untiring efforts in supervising all the details of compiling, editing, and publishing this Addendum. The Federal Art Project assisted in the preparation of the cover design.

HOW TO USE THE ADDENDUM

The following Addendum carries forward the genealogy of the Ballou family from 1888, when The Ballous in America, was published, to 1937.

To find the genealogy of an individual in this Addendum, locate the name in the index and turn to the page to which reference is made. The key number which is underscored and precedes the genealogical paragraph is either the same key number used to denote this person in The Ballous in America or a new composite number, hereinafter explained. In each generation, paragraphs are arranged in the numerical order of key numbers.

Each of the genealogical paragraphs of this Addendum contains information concerning a family group. The names of the parents are in capital letters, the parent having Ballou blood being placed at the head of the paragraph. In parenthesis following this name will be found the given names of this person's Ballou ancestors in reverse order, back to Maturin Ballou, founder of the family.

The children of each union are listed following the paragraph, each child being given either the number which he or she had in The Ballous in America, or if not mentioned in this work, a new composite number consisting of the parent's number followed by a dash (-) and a figure indicating the number of the child in the issue of the parents. If this child's number is preceded by an asterisk (*), it signifies that he or she became the "head of a family" (for genealogical purposes) in the next generation. In such case, the same number becomes the key number at the head of the paragraph in the new generation. Each of the children of this person will bear in turn the composite number of the parent followed by another dash (-) and a figure indicating the number of the child in their issue.

Example: On page 115 will be found the number 4191-1-2-10-2, Randal Edward Nelson, of the eleventh generation, second child of 4191-1-2-10, Gladys Bertha (State) Nelson, of the tenth generation. Turn to number 4191-1-2 in the ninth generation (p. 70) and find Gladys, who is tenth among the children of Cora Oretta (Ballou) State. Turn to 4191-1-2 in the eighth generation (p. 22) and find Cora, second among the children of William Washington Ballou, whose number is 4191-1. Then turn to 4191-1 in the seventh generation (p. 12) where the latter's name appears as the only child of Silas Warren Ballou, number 4191 (p. 11). This is where the line begins in this Addendum, but on p. 604 in The Ballous in America the line is carried back to the immigrant Maturin Ballou. To trace forward, reverses the above order.

Then he found the title was not quite clear and had to use his homestead rights to prove up on it. He bought more land until he had 388 acres of the best land in Walla Walla Valley, containing four streams and fifty-two springs. In 1889 he sold 'Birch Brook Farm' and 80 acres, and moved to another house on the place, which we called 'Crystal Springs Farm'. There he had a large diary, 20 acres of pears, and an apple orchard. He was educated in the local district schools and Dean Academy. At 19 he entered the employ of the Woonsocket Rubber Co., first working in the mill and later in the office. His faithful, loyal service in the performance of his duties won the confidence of his superiors, and he rose rapidly through the various departments of the concern. When they opened a store in New York City he was placed in charge, remaining in that city for 17 years. He then went to Providence as sales manager for the company. Later he became president of this company guiding and directing its methods and policies for many years to its continued success and expansion. He was also president of the Banigan Rubber Co. As a member of the executive board of the United States Rubber Company he contributed constructively to the influence of this organization in the industry, his thorough knowledge of its intracacies winning for him recognition as an authority, and the respect and esteem of rubber manufacturers throughout the country. His diligent efforts and keen business sense were devoted to the development of the industry itself, as well as to the general welfare of his company. In addition to his commercial interests Mr. Ballou has been prominent in the social life of the community, in military circles where he served for more than fourteen years as a member of the New York State Militia, and in movements tending toward civic progress. 8289 GEORGE FREDERICK BALLOU (William, William, Maj. Reuben, Ezekiel, Obadiah, James, Maturin), b. Mar. 26, 1846, at Pawtucket, R. I.; d. June 9, 1935, at Dorchester, Mass., interred in Mt. Feake Cem., Waltham, Mass.; m. Jan. 13, 1868, by Rev. Mr. Winkley, to MARGARET ANNA GERALD, of Boston.

He moved with his parents, at the age of 2 yrs., to the "Lutherplace", so called, on the Louisquissett turnpike, now Lincoln, R. I. and from there to Pawtucket, R. I. previous to July 5, 1851. He attended the public schools at Pawtucket until the age of 12, when showing an unmistakable tendency towards mechanics, he was indentured to Cole Bros., manufacturers of steam fire engines and government rifles. He continued with them until the age of 16, when he enlisted (1862) in Co. H. (Capt. Henry F. Jenckes) 9th Regt. R. I. Vols., with his parents' permission. (This was strictly a Pawtucket Co.) He served 3 mos., in the U. S. service stationed mostly at "Tennellytown", just outside of Washington, D. C., at the time Lee was marching on Washington. At the end of his term of service, he returned to Pawtucket and was honorably discharged from the service. By this time he had outgrown his work in Pawtucket and went to work for Brown and Sharpe Mfg. Co. at their old shops on So. Main St., Providence, R. I. From this firm he advanced to the Chelsea (Mass.) Button Hole Mch. Co., and then to Grover and Baker Sewing Mch. Co. He next went to the American Watch Co., Waltham, Mass. He had now arrived at the age of 23 years, rather a precocious age for a young man to embark in business, still he formed the firm and became the senior member of Ballou, Whitcomb & Co., (Jno. E. Whitcomb) with Mr. Webster, master mechanic of the American Watch Co., as the silent partner. They commenced business at #7 Province Ct., Boston in 1869 in the manufacture of watch and chronometer lathes, etc. He continued there until 1874 when he retired from the firm and went back to Pawtucket, R. I., and formed the partnership of Ballou Bros., at Fairlawn, Pawtucket, where they erected a machine shop to carry on the same business. In 1876 this concern went out of business for want of sufficient capital to carry on and the business was discontinued by the younger member of the firm. He then returned to Boston for a term of years and reentered the machine department of the American Watch Co., Waltham. While he was with them he built the "Astronomical Clock", so called for the U. S. Government, which is noted for its precision as a perfect timekeeper. It is now doing duty as such, so Chief Griggs of that department informed the writer. In 1882 he installed and set up the clock. About that period he built for the U. S. Government three printing machines for the engraving department, at a cost of $15,000 each, and went to Cleveland, Ohio, to build the last one. In 1887 he entered the employ of Thos. A. Edison at his shops in Orange or So. Orange, N. J., and built for Mr. Edison the first commercial phonograph that was sent abroad, after a model furnished by Mr. Edison, the only difference being that Geo. F's weighed 27 lbs. while the Edison model weighed 54 lbs., such was Geo. F's., method of "nicety and precision." In three months Mr. Edison had promoted him to be foreman of his shop, and he continued as such until 1893 when he went with the Remington or Union Typewriter Co., with shops at Ilion, N. Y., and Bridgeport, Conn., and for fourteen years was their mechanical expert. After leaving there he again struck out for himself in the pencil pointer business and his first invention along this line he sold to A. B. Dick & Co., of Chicago, Ill. He afterward invented improvements on the pointer until whatever devices you now have are after his patents. The corporation he formed along these lines was the Ballou Mfg. Co., 110 Leonard St., N. Y. City, with his friend Mr. Ennison and a few congenial friends. He was the president and general manager. (Contributed by William A. Ballou).

I., until 1885, when he went with A. B. Pitkin, in Providence, as bookkeeper for two years. He moved to Lawrence, Mass. in 1887, becoming asst. paymaster for the Atlantic Cotton Mills, and in 1892 paymaster. Severing his connection with these mills in 1900 he entered the employ of the American Woolen Co. in a responsible position and continued in their employ for eighteen years, when he retired on an annuity. Now (1937), in his 86th year, he enjoys excellent health and is unusually active for his age. He is one of the most enthusiastic members of The Ballou Family Association of America, of which he is a past president, still actively serving on the Executive Committee, and is Chairman of the Committee on Membership and this Addendum. Ever since 1888 he has been accumulating geneological data for an Addendum of "The Ballous in America". His foresightedness is now receiving its just reward.

"Thus departed a great and generous soul. She knew more than most men: refused to run for County Treasurer, or otherwise enter politics." W. A. B.

Miss Ballou has been one of the enthusiastic members of the Ballou Family Association, and has accumulated a great deal of historical and genealogical date pertaining tc this interesting pioneering branch of the Ballou family, and to her efforts we are indebted for many memberships.

It is a pleasure to quote from an article (1917) from The Farmers Union News, Corvallis, Benton Co., Ore.: "When speaking of faithful officers, Miss Myra Ballou, Umatilla County Secretary, must not be overlooked. For four years, as Secretary of her County, she never missed a meeting. She has always been awake to all public questions, especially those pertaining to farm life, and can be depended upon to enter into any work that will benefit the farmers, with a will. She is no city farmer, but lives with her mother on her farm 'Brooklands', (rightly named), some three miles north of Freewater, Oregon. She personally looks after the management of her farm with wonderful accuracy and precision. She is able to give many men valuable pointers on grains, grasses, and fruits, all of which she raises on her farm. She keeps a register and requests every visitor to sign,and can show the names of thousands of persons who have had the pleasure of visiting 'Brooklands'. Miss Ballou has frequently been mentioned as a possible candidate for the legislature, but so far has persistently refused to enter politics."

She has been a delegate to many conventions: National Irrigation Congress at Spokane, Wash.; Country Life Congress; American Forestry Assn. of which she was a member, and many others. She was an ardent club woman, a member of Walla Walla Art Club. She had no church affiliations, but a sincere home spiritualist, as were her mother and father for fifty years. She bequeathed her share of 'Brooklands' to her sister Florence (Ballou) Brown.

One of the streets he named Ballou Street, another, Garfield Road. He is a director of the Hazelwood Creamery Co., Spokane, and much interested in fine blooded and short horn cattle. The Ballou Family Assn. is much indebted to Mrs. Florence (Ballou) Brown, his estimable wife, for a great deal that has been recorded along genealogical lines of this interesting Ballou branch. We can easily see what her sister, Myra Ballou, of "Brooklands", Freewater, Ore., means when she says, "She is the genealogical sister." "In my sixteenth year I began teaching school, and much of my time since has been spent in teaching and study. For two years I was principal of a public school in Norwalk, Connecticut. Six months of study in a business college at Poughkeepsie was followed by two years of teaching in the New York Workingmen's School of which Professor Adler, leader of the Society for Ethical Culture, was originator and director. I married in New York in 1883 and remained there until 1919. In 1891 I was admitted to the New York Bar, but did not practice. In 1895 I purchased an old farm house opposite my father's place in Gardner, Mass., and later acquired six acres adjacent. I spent forty consecutive summers there and in 1919 I retired, making this place my permanent residence. In the summer of 1896 I became guardian of a little orphan girl, who grew up as a member of my family until her marriage in 1914. During the World War I served on the legal advisory board in my district under the Draft Act. Studies which began in 1894 resulted in 1905 in a brief outline work entitled,'Science (function) Analysis.' It was directed to the end of a conceptual system of the Sciences deduced from a mathematical definition of Science. This has since been developed into the treatise and tract which I am sending to you because they represent a hobby that still interests me.

Dec. 13, 1881, by Rev. Mr. Smith, to FLORA BLOUNT, b. June 10, 1861, at Stockbridge, Calumet Co., Wis., dau. of Cornelius and Emily (Halsted) Blount. He was a twin brother to Myron Hamilton, who was born two days later and died Dec. 27, 1858.

He was a strictly self-made man with a very interesting and widely successful career. He attended school at Oshkosh, Wis., and soon entered into business. He rapidly developed into a captain of industry. After spending about ten years in northern Michigan in charge of lumber mills, he moved to Wisconsin and became the largest stockholder and Vice-Pres. of the great paper and pulp mills of The Menasha Paper Co., at Menasha, Wis., Ladysmith, Wis., Port Arthur, Ont., Thornapple, Wis., and Ashland, Wis. He was a director of the Wisconsin Central R. R. when it was acquired by the Soo Line and continued his influence over these two railroads. He organized and was the foremost official of the Wisconsin Pulpwood Co. that was interested financially in fifteen paper mills in Wisconsin and was the first company to ship pulpwood from Canada into the States. In 1920 he retired from activities in Wisconsin and moved to San Anselmo, Calif., to enjoy a peaceful rest. This is how he rested: - He organized The Marin Paper Co.; The Fairfax Lumber Co.; built and organized The Fairfax Bank, Calif. and became its president; entered the mining business, paint manufacturing, and other enterprises. He built an eight mile automobile road in Mt. Tamalpais, near San Francisco. His remains were cremated and the ashes placed in a great boulder on this road which overlooks the Pacific Ocean, and on which is placed a bronze tablet commemorating his achievements.

Aug. 14, 1925, at Delphos, Ottawa Co., Kan., dau. of Mahlon and Lestina Rhoana (Bishop) Mills, son of Albin D. and Dorothy (Ford) Mills. Lestina Bishop was dau. of Rev. Jay Bishop, born at Readsboro, Vt. The Town of Harwick, in 1930, was demolished and is now a lake.

"He enjoys the record of having resided on and farming the same land for half a century. He has never engaged in any important occupation other than that of farming and stock raising. He prospered beyond the average of Solomon Valley homesteaders for the reason that early in his experience he discerned the advantage of farm diversification. He was a pioneer in the breeding of Hereford cattle in a region essentially wheat land, and his success as a farmer is largely due to his faith in and application to the industry of raising and fattening cattle. For thirty years his white-faced herds were the object of his pride and adulation.

"Clarence Ballou provided well for the nine of his ten children who have grown to maturity. In its heyday the commodious Ballou home near Delphos was the citadel of a large family and its friends and relatives, a sort of landmark in the community, with its master ever seeking to improve upon it. He was only an infant when the Civil War began and was too old to go to France in 1917, but he delivered the first consignment of wheat in the community for the relief of the Belgian orphans in 1914, the first substantial contributions to war funds which followed. For many years he was active in the I. O. O. F. He had no political aspirations but gave generously of his time in community government, many years as township and school district director and eight years as Ottawa county commissioner. During his tenure of office the county made notable strides in road building, public health and farm agent undertakings.

"Clarence Ballou was essentially a so-called "self-made" man. He came to Kansas in 1876 with little more than a meager schooling, a rugged constitution and an infinite capacity for hard work. He is prone to credit his measure of success in life to his devoted wife who was his companion for 47 years. It may have been her inspiration, but it was his industry and perseverance. To these qualities we shall add modesty, sobriety, kindliness, generosity, good humor, devotion to family and state and a love of the beautiful. Since the death of Mrs. Ballou, in 1925, he has devoted considerable time to travel, his visits taking him to states from coast to coast. This, to be sure, is somewhat of a diversion, after a lifetime spent largely in one community, but while this may appear to be a well-earned reward, he still prefers to be among the scenes that are brighest. And so it is that he is most apt to be found at the old home place, 'Osawentha by the Pines'.

"Clarence Ballou being so consummately self-effacing this little sketch by one of the family may sound unbecoming, but speaking for the family, I do not regard it presumptuous to thus mention him, regarding him, as we contemporaries do, as one of the noteworthy patriarchs of the Ballou cousinhood." ARNOLD BALLOU (399) to his father MOSES BALLOU (90).

Honourod Father

with much satisfaction I received your letter on the 3rd of March Inst bearing Date the 18th of February AD 1812. having long bon desirus to hear from you all being sadly disappointed of not Seeing you all up to Smithfield last fall according to our expecttation and not receiveing anoy letters from you in a long time before this now, we had all most concluded that you all (as well as we) was quite cold as to that family affection which aught to be possessed by us all - to confer together by letter (as you have stated) is easey for us to do and I really think an incumbent duty on each one of us how much soever we have neglected that part of our duty which I think we should not so much neglect if we all possesod enough of that heavenly attribute which is lone one toward another as for my own part I Humbly feel willing to Receive faithful rebuke from the hand of of a loveing and kind father for my groos neglect to a Fathor and pray forgiveness - and Intreat you as a father not to give an occation to find the like fault; as you have Stur^{d} up my mind by hearing from you of your affection toward your Sons and daughter I hope we may never again be guilty of the like offonce and write to you and you and brothors to us that we may know of our and your and each ones wellfare We all Enjoy a reasonable State of health at presants (by the grace and blesing of our heavenly parent) which I think I feel to be thankful for; George had a very Sorious and severe Spel of the billious fever a year a go last Summer which it pleased the god of our fathers to recover him a gain to health whilst it pleased the Same being to Send a number of his and our neighbours to thear long homes he george has a girl and two Boys I have a boy and two Girls. Wm has no more family then he had when you was thare we all live whare we did when you was thare Elisabeth is well and has lived with me and her two Girls the most part of three years past and She very much wants to Se you all I with my wife and widows paid them a visit to Greenfield last winter found them all well of for this worlds good and Colled at Galloway and See Uncle Aaron and Family whih ware all well; agreeable to request I would Inform you that we do not feel to complain as it respects to the things that relates to temporal things though not Rich we Generally keep 3 or 4 Cows a peace each a horse Some Sheep Wm & George Some young Cattle My Self and Wm have paid for Some of the land we own and purchased Some more which we have not paid for our dweling is Small and Not finished George has not paid for his land but is preparing to build a Small dwelling place this Season how we may Git through life tho Lord only may know, but as life is temporal, and but of a Short duration I on my part would have Father by no means to Borrow trouble respecting our Indegent Surcumstances but if in affluent Surcumstances as I underStand he is if consistant with his will to Streach forth an arm and lend an assisting hand to me the use of Cash or something in that way would thankfully be received on my own part I do not all to gether like to live whare I now do not having the comforts of life as in many other places in this country as fruit & I have a mind to Sell the first convenient oppertunity so as not make a Sacrifise of property what I have hinted to you above about the lono of Cash

I Wish you would write me the prospect respecting it if I Should be thougt worthy of a favour I think if I Should have helth I might be able to replace it again I am dayly thinking of the Country of my nativity and all Relation accordingto the flesh and old aquaintance in that Country which I should be Exceeding happy to See which I think I Shall if I have health before twelve months I Should be glad to See Father up here again and wife with him if ever Rugged enoug for the Jurney the boys and Girls younger than my Self I think migh come which I should be glad to See you Informed me about the deth of Some of our friends and aquaintance whom I believe to be taken of by the hand of a friend to a beter World then fore I have nothing to lement but the loss of their companey to their friends which we have great Reason to be thankfull for. Widow Ballou's Farm

You lovers of freedom I pray you draw near
And lend your attention the truth you shall hear Concerning two traitors from Galway they came Hugh Smith & Michael Phillips you all know the same

2nd

Those black hearted villians they did combine
Brave Patrick Wayland to undermine
That was Always ready true hearted and kind
Both he and his lady to treat all mankind

3d

They came to his dwelling both early and late
And always made welcome to sit down to eat
It was little he knew their cruel intent
That they were intending his farm for to rent

4th

There is another deceiver that lately I know
That went with those villians to visit Mrs. Ballou
But Mike said to Hugh I will have to take the Horse
If Thomas Kilbanon my note dont endorse

5th

Then Tom made it right with the other two
To settle the matter with the Widow Ballou
But I could warn the widow of them to beware
For I am sure in the fall they will disapear

6th

That miserable nigger Kilbannon I mean
Let the farmers of Lime Rock of him beware
In the dead of the night when they are fast asleep
It is in Mowry's meadows his cow he doth keep

7th

This man starving miser from Shemose he came
But his betrim neighbors they are not to blame
My pen I will lay by but I think it too soon
For like Smith he may leave by the light of the moon
